BULLOCH TIMES

(STATESBORO NEWS—STATESBORO EAGLE)

STATESBORO, GA., THURSDAY, AUG. 20, 1925.

VOL. 34—NO. 23

EDITORS OF DISTRICT WRITE OF STATESBORO

ARE LOUD IN PRAISE OF RECEPTION ACCORDED RECENT CONVENTION.

The weekly editors of the First District Press Association, who recently convened in Statesboro, are uniformly warm in their praise of the entertainment accorded them. The following excerpts from the newspapers of the district express the enthusiasm of the editors.

(Tattnall Journal)

Representatives of the newspapers met in Statesboro Monday of this week, in their regular summer session. The attendance was not large but that did not seem to dampen the spirit of hospitality and good fellowship that was extended by the Statesboro people who entertained the visitors, and which prevailed among those assembled for the meeting.

In Statesboro Monday of this week, in their regular summer session, the attendance was not large but that did not seem to dampen the spirit of hospitality and good fellowship that was extended by the Statesboro people who entertained the visitors, and which prevailed among those assembled for the meeting.

The entertainment began with a watermelon cutting at one of Bulloch county's progressive farms four miles from Statesboro, and ended with a picnic near Dover on the Ogeechee river. Here a number of ladies had gathered as hostesses and served the newspaper folk and the local hosts in a manner that is never surpassed, and is only equaled by the good women of the communities well known over the South for their hospitality.

The business session of the meeting was held in the court room in Statesboro during the afternoon. Much business of immediate importance was transacted and plans set afoot that are designed to put the profession on more business-like basis in its transactions with the general public.

Bulloch is only one of the many counties in Georgia that has grown rich within itself and the figures secured during the visit of the editor of the Journal will be interesting to our farmers, and should also prove inspirational.

(Claxton Enterprise)

The Statesboro meeting of the First District Press Association, held Monday, was the most constructive meeting from the viewpoint of the country newspaperman ever held. The good people of Statesboro through their Chamber of Commerce had prepared an excellent fish dinner which was served at the Ogeechee river club house about ten miles from Statesboro. Prior to the dinner a watermelon cutting on the farm of Mr. Bohler, which was a very enjoyable affair. Mr. Bohler, in addition to being a good all around farmer is deeply interested in peach culture, and has many fine specimens in his orchards.

That the dinner at the club house was one that will be long remembered by the editors who were present, and the program under the direction of Mr. Cone, president of the Chamber of Commerce, was instructive and enlightening.

Beginning with the president of the Press Association, Robert Majors of Claxton, who made a short talk and expressed the appreciation of the editors for the wonderful hospitality of the people of Statesboro. Mr. Moore, pioneer member of the organization, and the first president made a short talk. R. M. Martin of Hinesville told of the work the press was trying to accomplish for the people as a whole. Mr. Yandle of Metter addressed a short talk in which he expressed himself as being at home in Statesboro. Mr. Sullivan of Waynesboro was next called on, and due to the unexpectedness of the call was caught off guard. L. M. Rhoden of Reidsville told of the vicissitudes that beset the country editor and he struggled to overcome them. He also mentioned the goal of every editor present, "to do his level best at all times."

In the afternoon a visit was made to the farm of Sheriff Mallard on the outskirts of Statesboro, where a field of corn was growing that showed every indication of turning out more than 100 bushels per acre. On this same farm last year over 200 bushels of corn was produced on one acre by Mr. Mallard's son, who established a state record for yield.

EAR GAS PROTECTIVE DEVICE TESTED IN N. Y. JEWELRY STORE

Here is depicted a highly interesting experiment made at 4 p. m. Thursday in New York. The device is used to protect stores and banks against robbery. In this particular instance a fake hold-up was attempted, and the jewelry store turned on the ear gas from fixtures that were hidden in the case. Mr. Bohler, who was in the store, put the "handicap" out of business for the time being. "Test was made by a private corporation for the time being. The other reaches into the jewelry clerk. One of the robbers is 'covering' while the other reaches into the case. The clerk puts up his hands, but, as he does so, he steps on a pedal on the floor, thereby releasing the ear gas.

PROSPERITY WAVE IS SWEEPING OVER STATE

BUSINESS MEN TELL OF UNMISTAKABLE EVIDENCES OF BETTERMENT.

Four Atlanta business men in widely varying kinds of commerce predicted the greatest era of prosperity for Georgia this fall and winter ever enjoyed by the state in interviews furnished a representative of the Week. Each furnished evidence to substantiate his contention. The first interviewed was E. Adams, prominent real estate man of Atlanta, former president of Rotary International, who said inquiries are pouring into his office from business men all over the state, asking for information concerning possible locations in this state.

"We are receiving more inquiries than ever before and I understand other real estate men are getting similar inquiries concerning conditions in Atlanta and in Georgia," he said. "In my opinion, the business activity in this state we have ever enjoyed in our history. The state will produce bumper crops this year; the eyes of the country are centered on the southeast; we have the goods here in Georgia to deliver and all signs on the business horizon point to general and sustained prosperity."

William Kingdon, member of the firm of V. H. Krieshaber and Sons, declared that building operations are picking up in all parts of Georgia and that his firm has given up tentative plans to establish a branch office in the state and will center all its activities in Georgia.

"In the last few weeks we have enjoyed increases in our business of such a nature as to convince us that Georgia is preparing for a big boom in the near future," he said. "I am not alone in this opinion. I am convinced that the business activity in Georgia is preparing for a big boom in the near future."

STATESBORO MAN FINDS ANOTHER "BEST TOWN"

B. A. Trappell, recently of Statesboro, writing from his new home in Miami, Fla., says he has found another "best town."

"I came from the best town in Georgia," he said, "and I have selected the best town in Florida." Adding further enthusiasm as he proceeds, he says "I believe in less than ten years Miami will be the largest city in the south-east. If it keeps up the present pace, it will be in five years."

Giving some inkling into the prosperous condition he finds in Miami, Mr. Trappell tells of a real estate deal there during the past few days in which one man made $4,500,000 in less than ten days by buying some acreage and selling it into lots. "Sold in for 7 1/2 million dollars in 12 half hours. Some business, wasn't it?"

Mr. Trappell was for years a member of the firm of Trappell-Mikell Co., until he disposed of his business the first of the present year. He still retains a keen interest in the affairs of this section. "I understand business is picking up in Statesboro, and I do hope the crops will prove very profitable this year."

LOCAL COTTON MARKET LOOKS LIKE OLD TIMES

SPECIAL COTTON TRAIN OVER S. & S. MOVES 285 BALES SUNDAY AFTERNOON.

It looks like old times in the local cotton market these days! The records for last Saturday disclose that more than 300 bales were weighed at the two local warehouses besides more than 50 bales delivered to the Co-Operative Association direct to the railroad without passing through the warehouses.

Add these together and observe that the receipts for the day were in excess of 350 bales.

And then on Sunday afternoon when a special train of 11 cars, bearing 285 bales, passed out over the tracks of the Savannah & Statesboro railroad, it looks even more than ever like old times.

It would be entirely wild to make an estimate of the crop for the cotton year. The general opinion is that the acreage is greater than last year, and it is certain that the condition of the crop is better. And these two facts together and it is easy to estimate that the president of the Georgia Cotton Association, Mr. E. Adams, in his address to the Georgia Cotton Association, said that the year's crop was around 23,000 bales. It is safe to estimate this year's crop around 25,000 bales. It is more likely to be above than below that yield.

But the cotton crop is not the only speaking evidence of prosperity in this section. Real estate is beginning to stiffen up a bit. Chas. E. Cone, the realty man, stated to this reporter last week that sales of farm property aggregating around $10,000 had been made during the past few weeks. Besides this, there are inquiries for lands from other sources. One business man stated to the Times Tuesday that he had received from an inquiry for a large acreage of farm land in this county by persons prospecting with view to investing here.

The clouds are beginning to disappear. It will be only a little while until the sun will be out of the shadow. Indeed, he has not been hurt nearly so badly as other sections of the state by the general depression of the first eight months of this year as compared to a similar period last year.

This large increase reflects the steadiness of business conditions in the southeast," he said. "Georgia is one of the best states in its territory. There are unmistakable signs that the business in this section is contributing to her prosperity."

YOUNG WHITE MAN MEETS DEATH IN SAWMILL

Willie Hart, aged 22 years, was instantly killed in the machinery of Shearwood's mill at Brooklet Monday when his clothing caught on a revolving pulley and horribly mangled his body.

Young Hart was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hart and was married.

INTERESTING FIGURES ARE PRESENTED AT RECENT MEETING OF EDITORS

The Savannah Press has recently had some good things to say about Bulloch county, the thriving neighbor of Chatham. Bulloch seems to be racing in the lap of luxury right now. It is passing through good times. Crops are fine, money is coming in from the marketing of farm products and both the town and country sections are reporting very marked activity and splendid returns.

On Monday when the editors of the First congressional district met at Statesboro, W. E. McDougald delivered an address to the visitors in which he used some illuminating figures as to the progress of Bulloch county this year in the way of crops.

Here are his conclusions:

Bulloch county production for 12 months:

Killed on the farm 1,250,000
600 lbs. per acre worth $25,000
Shipped on to rail 110
Sold on farm, value 130,000
Sold on farm and eggs 200,000
Valued at 200,000
Green, butter, milk, etc. 295,000

As a "side-line" the cow, sow and hen produced $1,000,000. This "side-line" amounted to $333,333.33 per month cash income. Bulloch county also produced:

400 acres tobacco, estimated at $80,000
75 acres early sweet potatoes for market 15,000
250 acres assorted truck for shipment 50,000
2,000 acres peanuts for shipment 130,000
100 acres watermelons 75,000
100 acres of peaches for shipment 15,000
100,000 lbs. pecans 35,000
Turpentine and rosin products 375,000
Lumber and mill products 250,000
23,000 bales of cotton, which with the seed, 2,875,000
738,000 bushels corn 750,000
102,000 bushels late sweet potatoes 100,000

Total of $6,750,000. No account is taken in this table of the hay and forage crops, shipments of hogs and of fresh meats and the products of truck farms. It is estimated that these additions will run the returns for the year up to $8,000,000.

There are practically 3,500 farms in Bulloch and of this number 2,300 are run by white people. The colored farmer in the county seems to be industrious and faithful.

CENTRAL EMPLOYEES SAVE FOR CHILDREN

Savannah, Ga., Aug. 17.—Two hundred and thirty-three savings accounts for children of Central of Georgia employees born during the past year have been started by L. A. Downs, president of the Central of Georgia, in the last issue of the employees' magazine, The Right Way. President Downs takes great interest in the personal welfare of all those to whom he is connected, and he is encouraging this work, and information that the accounts are being regularly increased.

The Right Way Magazine is running a page or more of pictures of the youngsters in each issue. It is interesting to note that the new arrivals for the year numbered two hundred and thirty-three. The record month was December, 1924, in which twenty-seven fine babies were born.

Bulloch county is a great county. Her agriculture makes her great. The cotton crop, the melon crop and the banana crop of the year are all contributing to her prosperity.

Why gamble on real estate when you can purchase an income earning banana plantation on easy terms? See B. W. RUSTIN. (Gaup1925)

Certificates entitling the Holder to these Rare Souvenir Coins on the date of Distribution, July 3, 1925, are now available to the public.

Demand for these Memorial Coins is enormous. Limited quantities have been allotted to each city in the South. Only holders of Coin Certificates, therefore, can be absolutely sure of obtaining the Coin on their Release date. Premiums on the Coins go toward the completion of the great Confederate Memorial being carved at Stone Mountain, Ga.

Lightning

Lightning is an electric discharge passing from one cloud to another, or to the earth. All clouds are charged with electricity, and when parts of clouds which break away have a greater electrical charge than they can carry, the surplus charge leaps to another cloud or to the earth as a lightning flash. The duration of the flash lasts only about one one-hundredth of a second.

SPEEDWAY KINGS TO RACE AT SAVANNAH

Tri-State Track Will Hum With Fast Motors; Versatile Program Offered Grand Stand Audiences.

Professional auto races will play an important part at the 1924 Tri-State Exposition, according to a statement made yesterday by A. W. Monahan, president of the fair, who has received encouraging reports from several of the best dirt track drivers in the country that they plan on entering the fair races will be held during October 27-November 1, fair week.

Auto racing today stands as one of the greatest competitive sports and it is estimated that outside of baseball, more people attend auto races than any other form of sport. The Indianapolis speedway draws the greatest single crowd of any event in the world, and at the large state fairs over the United States, auto races bring out the banner crowds, statistics prove.

Some fairs have completely given up horse races and have relied on auto race events and outdoor attractions such as free acts and auto polo to carry the daily program, but the Savannah fair will have all of these. Although it is sometimes not advisable for auto race events daily, most of the fairs of the country now plan on one to four days of auto races.

The fair board has secured Ralph A. Hankinson, one of the best known promoters and officials, to act as starter and to be in charge of the fair races. Hankinson has started and officiated in races on two continents and in every part of the United States and several provinces in Canada.

The Savannah track is conceded to be fast and has been pronounced as adaptable for good speed at a recent inspection by an official representative of the National Motors Board, whose rules and regulations will govern the fair auto race events.

SAV'N SCOUTS WILL CAMP AT FAIR GROUNDS

Boys Will Render Valuable Service to Public During Big Exposition.

Wherever there is need of a service to mankind, there we find the Boy Scouts, trained for service. So it is not surprising to learn that the khaki-clad lads will be on duty again this year at the Tri-State Exposition, October 27-November 1, helping Savannah entertain the thousands of visitors, many of whom will come for hundreds of miles to the big exposition.

But it is surprising to see the many and varied tasks that the boys will perform, and the responsibilities which are entrusted to them. They will have entire charge of the emergency tent and all first aid work for the thousands of visitors.

Act As Messengers.
The Scouts also will maintain messenger or orderly service for the heads of the various departments of the fair, and will act as fire guards to keep aisles open in the huge grandstand during the afternoon and evening programs.

Just like last year they will maintain the "Bureau of Missing Persons" where they will be prepared to reunite lost children with their parents, and locate persons receiving emergency calls while on the fairgrounds. Physicians or others expecting calls should keep closely in touch with the Scout service headquarters while on the grounds.

Each Scout will be a veritable "information bureau," trained to give the more commonly requested information wherever he may be.

In countless other ways the Scouts will serve visitors, showing them that Savannah is glad they came.

Quarters on Grounds.
The hundred or more Scouts who will be on duty will be quartered right on the grounds in a well equipped camp just inside the main gate. Their headquarters will have adequate telephone service and there will be plenty of adult leadership.

Camp Opens October 27.
The service camp will be under the supervision of the Scout Council, Harry G. Strachan, president, and Robert C. Tapping, scout executive. They will be assisted by a staff of seven capable trained adult Scout leaders.

ARTISTS TO PLACE SPECIMENS AT FAIR

Savannah, Ga.—As customary, the Georgia State Fair catalog for 1925 contains an attractive collection of premiums offered for exhibits in the art department. The premiums are open to the world, and because of this, the fair is one of the best of its kind in the South.

Every reasonable care will be given the exhibits, and all of them will be exhibited so that they may be properly inspected by the visitors. Mrs. Arnold P. Freeman of Savannah will be in charge of the department. Premiums are offered on the work of amateurs and semi-professionals as well as on the work of professionals, and there is special provision made to encourage the boys and girls who are interested in painting, drawing and other work of art.

ing. After the spraying demonstration those present were turned loose on some very delicious watermelons and devoured them at a rapid rate. The farm of Mr. Bohler is most interesting. One can find on his farm, in addition to the regular Georgia farm product, oranges, grapes, etc.

After enjoying the hospitality of Mr. Bohler and Son the editors left for the Georgia Normal School where they saw the immense building under construction which, when finished, will give this section of Georgia one of the best educational institutions in the state.

On arriving in Statesboro the members of the Fourth estate were met upon by members of the Chamber of Commerce, formerly the Statesboro Ad Club, and were carried to the Dover club house on the Ogeechee river where a fish and chicken dinner was served. This, by far, was the most enjoyable feature of the morning. Beautiful young ladies served those present and were anxious that everyone was provided with some of all the good things to eat with which the long table was loaded.

After the dinner a word of welcome was extended to the pencil pushers by Hon. Howell Cone, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and one of the leading attorneys of Georgia. He spoke very highly of the editors in his talk and the compliments were highly appreciated. At the conclusion of Mr. Cone's most splendid address each of the visiting newspaper men were introduced, each responding with a short talk thanking the Statesboro people for her hospitality during the day and most especially for the chicken and bread.

The good people of Statesboro and Bulloch county certainly have a good spirit of cooperation which was in evidence at the meeting Monday. Our good friend, Editor D. B. Turner of the Bulloch Times, deserves much commendation for the way in which the entertainment of the day was carried out. It was a good meeting and the Advertiser editor hopes to have the pleasure of attending another meeting in Statesboro soon.

QUESTION IS ASKED, WHERE IS WALL STREET

Wall street, in the public mind, is more a vague idea than a narrow little street in New York with a graveyard at one end and a river at the other. It is fancifully pictured as a den of thieves, by the demagogue and by the faker who tells you that he is offering his securities to small investors to keep Wall Street from gaining control of them.

Sitting at home in his small village, town or city any person can get an accurate conception of Wall Street, New York, because every little village, town and city has its Wall Street that differs from Wall Street, New York, largely in extent only. The "Wall Street" in your town consists of bankers, money lenders, traders and men who organize or operate business. You know them. You can name those that are honest, trustworthy, capable men.
You can name those who are not the misfortune of others. You know those who are honest, but impracticable dreamers and those who are out-and-out crooks.

Those are the kind of men who make up Wall Street, New York. If you choose to deal with the Wall Street crooks of your town, of New York, or Possum Trot Cross Roads, you're going to run good chances of losing. If you select the honest, capable business men of either place you get fair dealing. Any sound, honest enterprise can obtain capital on fair terms in its proper Wall Street. Wall Street, New York wouldn't be interested in lending money to a man who is in a bad business. Bill Jones $500 to start a garage in Possum Trot Cross Roads, but it would finance the automobile company for which Bill is agent.
Ninety-nine times out of a hundred the slick promoter who talks of keeping control is lying. Wall Street wouldn't touch his securities with a 20 foot pole.

CARD OF THANKS
I wish to thank our many friends sympathy during the illness and death of my dear husband; also the ings. May the heaven's richest blessings be on each and every one of those dear kind people who is my prayer.

PRESIDENT DOWNS SAYS CONDITIONS IMPROVING

The factors which constitute satisfactory services are discussed in an interesting manner in a statement by Downs points out that the demand for transportation is continually increasing and that the Central of Georgia is able to keep pace with business because of money spent for improved and enlarged facilities, because of greater cooperation from its patrons and because of increased efficiency of its employees.

The first seven months of 1925 showed the greatest volume of traffic ever handled in a like period by the Central of Georgia and during the past ten years its revenue tonnage has increased 93 per cent.

Mr. Downs pays a high tribute to the loyalty and efficiency of Central of Georgia employees, which he says, is one of the main factors in the railroad's ability to render good service. He says that the 10,0
